

Intelligent Money British GT Championship
Round 9, Donington Park 2

21st & 22nd October 2023

The clerk of the course confirms that following an investigation into GT3 qualifying the following cars #8, #72, #78 & #97 did not comply with championship regulation 41.4

“Each Driver will compete in one session in order to qualify for the race. Except for cases of force majeure, recognised as such by the Clerk of the Course, all Drivers must complete at least two timed laps in the relevant session, not including in and out laps.”

The evidence heard from each of the above team managers has been taken into account.

The above cars are given permission to start the race from the back of their relevant grid, the exact grid positions to be determined and published once the order has been confirmed, factoring in the existing grid drops that have already been issued to other competitors.

The Clerk of the Course has received an application from car #67 who failed to set combined times that meet the regulations 41.4 to start the race. Permission is granted to start the race from the back of the relevant grid, factoring in the existing grid drops that have already been issued to other competitors.

The Clerk of the Course has received an application from car #93 who failed to set combined times that meet the regulations 41.4 to start the race. Permission is granted to start the race from the back of the relevant grid, factoring in the existing grid drops that have already been issued to other competitors.

The Clerk of the Course has received an application from car #11 who failed to set combined times that meet the regulations 41.4 to start the race. The application includes a request to change the chassis/car, championship regulation 40 applies. Permission is granted to start the race from the back of the relevant grid, factoring in the existing grid drops that have already been issued to other competitors and observing the mandatory 10 grid place penalty. (CR40)

The grid for the race will be published around 08.00am on Sunday 22nd October 2023
